Reserve Bank of India: An Overview

*Vision Statement:
"The Reserve Bank of India is committed to pursue the public interest and common good as a leading central bank that is recognised for its credible, transparent and proactive policies."*

Origins & Evolution

The origin of the Reserve Bank can be traced to 1926, when the Royal Commission on Indian Currency and Finance—also known as the Hilton-Young Commission—recommended the creation of a central bank to separate the control of currency and credit from the government and to augment banking facilities throughout the country. The Reserve Bank of India Act of 1934 established the Reserve Bank as the banker to the central government and set in motion a series of actions culminating in the start of operations in 1935. Since then, the Reserve Bank's role and functions have undergone numerous changes keeping pace with the changing nature of the Indian economy.

As Reserve Bank commences operations today I take [the] opportunity to...express my confidence that this great undertaking will contribute largely to the economic well being of India and...its people.

- Excerpt from telegram sent by Viceroy to Mr Osborne Smith, first Governor of the Reserve Bank, 1935

From ensuring stability of interest rates and exchange rates to providing liquidity and an adequate supply of currency and credit for the real sector; from ensuring banking penetration and safety of depositors' funds to promoting and developing financial institutions and markets, and maintaining the stability of the financial system through continued macro-financial surveillance, the Reserve Bank plays a crucial role in the economy. Its decisions touch the daily life of all Indians and help chart the country's current and future economic and financial course.

Over the years, the Bank's specific roles and functions have evolved. However, there have been certain constants, such as the integrity and professionalism with which the Reserve Bank discharges its mandate.

To know more, refer to 'History of the Reserve Bank of India' – a definitive account of the organisation's evolution and journey – released by the Bank in multiple volumes.

Presence

The Reserve Bank of India has Regional Offices (ROs) including sub-offices at 31 locations spread across the country.

Organisational Structure

The Bank's total staff strength comprises around 13,000 full time employees working different locations across the country.

Functions & Working

A. Regulation, Supervision and Enforcement

Legal Framework:

The regulatory and supervisory activities of the Bank derive authority from various provisions contained in the BR Act, 1949 & BR Act (AACs), 1949, RBI Act, 1934, the Regional Rural Banks Act, 1975, SARFAESI Act, 2002 and other related statutes in order to protect depositors' interests, to ensure safety and soundness of the banking system and to safeguard financial stability.

Organisational Set-up:

Viewing the different entities within its domain in a unified manner and in order to derive regulatory / supervisory synergies, the Bank has set up two new Departments – the Department of Regulation (DoR) and the Department of Supervision (DoS) in 2019 thereby bringing commercial banks, cooperative banks and NBFCs under a single umbrella.

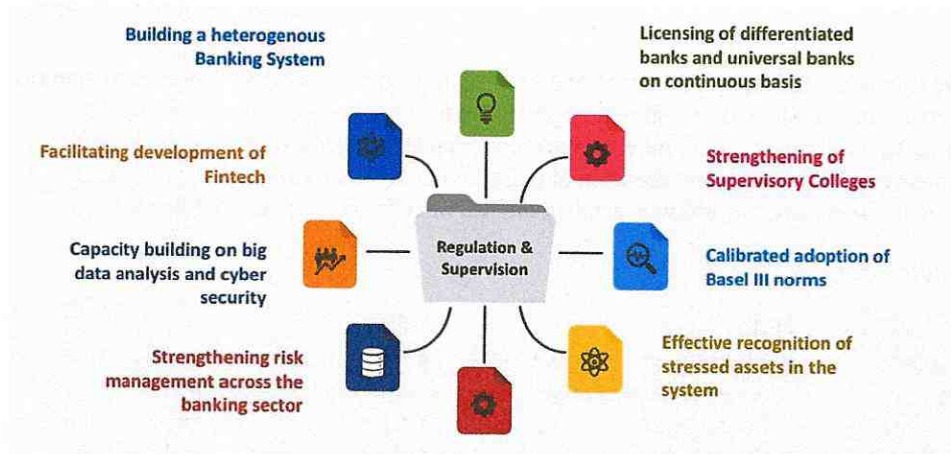

Regulation: The Department of Regulation exercises regulatory powers over Commercial banks, Small Finance Banks, Payments Banks, Cooperative Banks, All India Financial Institutions, Regional Rural Banks, Local Area Banks and select categories of Non-Banking Financial Companies.

The tools used for regulation are statutory and prudential regulation, other regulatory guidelines and moral suasion. Broadly the banking regulation strategies relate to ex ante strategies such as entry regulations, activity regulations, prudential regulations, governance regulations, conduct regulations and information regulations and ex post regulations such as resolution policies.

Supervision: The Department of Supervision is responsible for enforcement of rules and regulations at individual entity level that are formulated by the regulator to govern their behaviour. In banking supervision, from a compliance-based approach, the framework has evolved into a risk-based or risk-focused approach with Basel's Core Principles for Effective Banking Supervision serving as the benchmark. The dual control issue in Urban Cooperative Banks has been addressed through setting up of Task Force (TAFUBS) in all States while strengthening of offsite capacities is playing a key role in supervision of NBFCs.

Enforcement: Recognising the need for effective enforcement of supervisory policies, a separate Enforcement Department (ED) was set up in 2017. The Department is responsible for developing sound policy framework for enforcement, identifying actionable violations on the basis of bank examination reports, both onsite and offsite, and market intelligence reports and conduct further investigations/verifications.

Focus Areas:

Job roles for officers in Grade 'B':

- Policy formulation, Onsite and Offsite Supervision, Data Collection and Analysis thereof
- Processing risk assessment report, Preparing and Issuing SCNs for enforceable violations

Want to know about 5 key attributes of a good supervisory framework? Read IMF Staff Position Note titled, "The Making of Good Supervision: Learning to Say 'No'"

B. Financial Markets & Foreign Exchange

Legal Framework:

FMRD & FMOD	Chapter III D, Section 45U, 45W RBI Act, 1934
IDMD	Government Securities Act, 2006/Rules 2007, Public Debt Act, 1944/ Rules 1947
DEIO	RBI Act, 1934
FED	Schedule 3, Sections 6-11 and 15 of FEMA , 1999.

Organisational Set-up:

FMRD: Set up with a mandate to regulate, develop and oversee financial markets, Financial Markets Regulation Department looks after regulation, development, oversight and surveillance of the money, government securities, foreign exchange markets and related derivative markets; as also of financial benchmarks for interest rates and foreign exchange markets.

IDMD: The main activities of the Internal Debt Management Department include managing the Government's debt in a risk efficient and cost-effective manner, and building a robust institutional framework of primary dealers (PDs).

FED: Main objective of the Foreign Exchange Department is to facilitate external trade and payments and promote orderly development and conduct of foreign exchange market in India. FED works in line with the stipulations under FEMA 1999 and compounding of contraventions thereof.

FMOD: The Financial Markets Operation Department conducts operations in the money market, government securities and forex markets. As a part of this responsibility, FMOD also undertakes analysis of various market segments and provides inputs to the top management for informed decision making.

DEIO: The Department of External Investment & Operations is responsible for managing the Bank's reserves. It also undertakes certain foreign exchange transactions on behalf of the Government and plays a role in international co-operation arrangements involving foreign exchange reserves.

Focus Areas:

Financial Markets Departments are committed to further developing and deepening the money, G-secs, foreign exchange and especially the interest rate and currency derivative markets and ensuring effective liquidity management and FX operations. There is an enhanced thrust on ramping up IT infrastructure for effective monitoring and surveillance e.g. Public Registry, Integrated Market Surveillance System etc. FED aims at rationalisation of cross-border borrowing and lending regulations, improving information management in the context of foreign investment inflows while facilitating outward flows.

Job roles for officers in Grade 'B':
